DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 30-49 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

A stated in the last action, the claims are anticipated if treated as essentially product-by-process type claims. How or where the heparin sulfate, chondroitin sulfate etc. is obtained is not given patentable weight. When the prior art discloses a product which reasonably appears to be either identical with or only slightly different than a product claimed in a product-by-process claim, a rejection based alternatively on either section 102 or section 103 of the statute is eminently fair and acceptable. As a practical matter, the Patent Office is not equipped to manufacture products by the myriad of processes put before it and then obtain prior art products and make physical comparisons therewith. While the Applicant in the reply dated November 23, 2004 states that there is significant difference in biological functions between chondroitin sulfate from different source materials, this is not disclosed in the present application nor is evidence supplied. A prima facie case of obviousness based on structural similarity is rebuttable by proof that the claimed compounds possess unexpectedly advantageous or superior properties.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3738

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 30-49 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Reich et al. (6,090,995). Reich et al. discloses a hemocompatible surface comprising, e.g. polyurethanes (a high molecular weight compound as admitted in the present application) or a collagen extracted from calves, and heparin sulfate (p 8, lines 9-31), a polysaccharide constituent of an outer layer of a blood cell.

The Reich et al. implant consists of the same materials claimed and is hemocompatible.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
